My dear Maria

Little thought I that two months would pass without either hearing from thee, or writing directly to thee. That week in Boston, oh how pleasant! I should like dearly to pass it over again. But as that cannot be, do come and make us a visit. 'Tis true, we have no Eliza de Follen here, unless indeed she come too, but we will make our home as attractive as possible. We shall have Garrison, and Douglass, and Buffum and we hope some other of the worthies. I write particularly now, to remind thy sister Caroline that her promise of coming, is yet unfulfilled. We shall gladly expect her the last of this or beginning of next week, and indulge the hope that her sisters will not let her 'dave alone'. Anne Warren and thyself are entirely too great strangers hereaway. The acquaintance formed with Deborah, is worth pursuing - and I love those dear young ones, enough to wish to greet them under our roof. We shall open E. N. Davis' house, & can accommodate abolitionists - a score -

Will thou drop us a line, if my delay has not made it too late, saying when we may look for you at 1382 9th St.

James wrote to Wm L. G. 2 weeks since, making some inquiries relative to Lovin Moody & W. W. Brown - as agents for Penna - but he had received no answer. Perhaps he thought it would be time enough, when he came here, to give his opinion of their respective qualifications.

Love unbounded to dear E. L. Follen. She must come while we feel so well acquainted with her, and seal an into-mary that promises us so much pleasure. How glad I am, that we saw her & her sister & their lovely Charles, in their own house.
I can now think of her there, as well as in that pleasant corner of your parlor, when we enjoyed so many tête à tête, which are so pleasant to recur to.

We want to hear how thy Mother is, and how her dear Mary G. bears such long and close confinement to her sick chamber.

We received a letter a day or two ago for Charles Spear, by which we suppose he may soon be with us. I wrote to John M. not long since.

Please say if those manuscript letters of J. B. White's were returned to G. Ripley.

With love unfeigned to your household thy sisters - and any quantity to thyself
I am thine ever
